

How to Find a Psychology Study

www.worthingtonchristian.com

Schools

High School

HS Intranet

Select INFOHIO

Select EBSCO Host

Select "All Database Search"

Scroll down list and click on Psychology and Behavioral Science (if you are interested in an educational or learning topic you could also select ERIC), click continue

This will take you to SEARCH OPTIONS

Enter your topic (depression, relationships, dating, ADD, etc.)

Search mode: your call

Limit results: check "full text" and "peer review"

Your articles will appear. Most will have abstracts. Select one that is either a study or a literature review.

Print the article, read it, and do your best to understand it. You will get lost in the statistics most generally, don't worry, just try to get the big idea. Mark it up!

Remember, reading the abstracts will save you a lot of time, and will help you see which articles are right for your purposes.

PASSWORDS ETC.

Username: learn

Password: infohio

If for some reason the passwords don't work, there is a way to get on without one.

Look for the link that says "Click here for username/password assistance."

Password for Infotrac (Gale) is Wort59259_rpa (not capitalized)
